bandits, in broad daylight, here executed a robbery by which they obtained from Howard Haver, 26, $15, all the money he had.

According to the story told to the police by Haver, he was walking along Main street when he was knocked down by another pedestrian. Before he could rise two men alighted from an automobile and hurried him into machine. He was informed that he was under arrest and taken to a room, where a mock trial was held.

Haver declares he was fined $30.30, but when he said he had but $15 the fine was reduced to that amount. He was informed that the "judge" was Mayor Shook.

The police are making vigorous efforts to apprehend the bandits.

Following closely upon the shocking tragedy at the Fayette Canning Company's plant Monday afternoon, when Pearl Vansky was whirled to his death in the machinery, an equally horrible tragedy occurred at a point a short distance east of the Sears Canning plant, when Frank Lee, aged 28 years, was struck by the belated north-bound passenger train on the C. New York, Sept. 24.—"The American republic is going to destruction because it is in the clutches of an evil which is not of the people's own conscious making and, consequently, it is beyond their power of curing for—the do not know what it is!"

With the above brass-sounding words, Thomas W. Lawson, the exposé of "frenzied finance," begins a new crusade in Everybody's.

Lawson in this new fight opens war on the stock exchange. There has been enough talk, Lawson says, concerning "the contributing factors" of the high cost of living. We have blamed a lot of things and have availed nothing.

"And now," he shouts, "it is time we found out the real cause and then, once and forever, put an end to it! And this grievous thing for which we are all looking is the stock exchange and the gambling which is done there!"

"The people of this country," he writes, "have enough intelligence to know they are being hurt, and are being hurt unto death, but they do not know what is hurting them."

Broad Day Holdup in New York
Streets in Which the Robbers Use

taining Nearly Two Thousand Dollars—Policeman and Many Others
Witnesses of the Deed.

New York, Sept. 24.—John J. Hopper, head of the firm of Hopper, Grey & Company, who deal in dairy products, started for the bank with $1,881.31 which he carried in a satchel. He was only a short distance from his shop two men held him up. One of them hit him with a blackjack and the other grabbed the satchel.

Then the two highwaymen ran to a waiting red automobile, jumped into it and got away, the bandit who had done the blackjacking firing shots at a policeman and a crowd that attempted to follow.

Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty seems confident that he will find the robbers by locating the automobile, at least part of the license number of the car having been seen by witnesses of the holdup.

As Hopper turned toward Ninth avenue on his way to the bank, Bill Egan, who has a livery stable near the corner, shouted to him from the doorway: "Leave that with me, Hop, I need it in my business."

Hopper laughed. At the corner is a saloon. Two young men were standing in front of it. They had been in the neighborhood for maybe a month, although nobody seemed to know anything about them.

As Hopper got to the corner, one of the men pulled a blackjack from his pocket and struck at the dairyman's head. Hopper's right hand—the hand which held the satchel—went up to ward off the blow. The blackjack struck the wrist and the smaller man grabbed the satchel. As he started off for a red automobile, Hopper struck at the man with the blackjack and the latter tumbled Hopper over with a blow on the head. Then he too ran for the buzzing auto.

Policeman Martin, who was a half block away up Ninth avenue, saw all this happen. He ran for Hopper. By this time the man with the satchel was in the auto, crouching in the bottom of the car. The man with the blackjack got to the car a minute or so after him. As he saw the policeman and the crowd coming toward him he yelled to the driver, "Let her go." Then he faced the crowd, a revolver in his hand, and fired several shots.

Washington, Sept. 24.—The situation in Foochow, China, is extremely critical, according to an official report of John Fowler, American consul at that city. The consul reports that the Peking government is sending a large force to remove from office the chief of police at Foochow, who, defying the authority of the central government, threatens to destroy the city in case he is attacked. The consul also reports unrest in the country districts around Foochow.

Foochow is the capital of the province of Fukien. It is one of the five ports opened to foreign residence and trade in 1842 by treaty with Great Britain. It is a walled city, situated in a beautiful and fertile valley about 34 miles from the mouth of the river Min and with its suburbs has a population of 636,000. Near the city is an arsenal built in 1867 and managed by Frenchmen. There are cotton mills in the city and a match factory was recently constructed.

The state department is not likely to change its attitude toward the new Chinese republic as a result of the open letter sent by the China Society of America to President Taft asking for the formal recognition of that government. Officials feel that the appeal is founded upon a misconception of the conditions existing in China.

Columbus, O., Sept. 24.—Attorney General Hogan and Prosecuting Attorney Turner made a vigorous and successful fight to prevent Judge Michael Donnelly of Napoleon sitting with the circuit court which is to review legislative bribery cases. Last week charges of embezzlement, which the attorney general had made fruitless efforts to prosecute against the judge, were nulled.

Astoundment reigned at the court-house here when circuit court of this district unexpectedly announced that it had decided not to review the cases of Senators Huffman and Andrews. Only a few months ago the circuit judges had refused a request from the senators' attorneys for a transfer to another district.

Presiding Judge Winch of Cleveland, who makes transfers and assignments, was reached by telephone and he agreed to send another judge to sit in place of Donnelly.

The cases are to be tried Saturday.

DULY SUMMONED.

The Republican party officially and formally opened the national and state campaign in Columbus on Saturday and those residents of the Buckeye state, if there were any, who entertained any doubt on the subject or were wandering in the darkness of utter ignorance, may now rest assured that there is a real campaign on.

Perhaps the most distinguishing features of the very able speech of Senator Lodge, the central figure and orator at the meeting Saturday was the absence of attack on the party's ancient enemies—the Democrats—and the merciless grueling which was handed out to former Republicans now arrayed under the banner of the Bull Moose and following the fortunes of an ex-president, elected by the Republican voters on a Republican ticket.

If ex-President Roosevelt and his followers entertain a lingering hope that their work this year is to be directed to the destruction of the Republican party, to be followed four years hence by a campaign which will sweep Mr. Roosevelt into office at the head of a new party—they are all doomed to disappointment if the words and the attitude of the Republican speakers and leaders is at all significant.

That the chasm between Republicans and Progressives is deeper, darker and wider than the one which separates Republicans and Democrats was made clearly evident at Monday's meeting.

The voters of Ohio are now duly notified that a national election is approaching; that there are three separate and distinct parties with no branches battling for preference, and the aforesaid voters will proceed to govern themselves accordingly.

GETTING AT COAL FACTS.

A few years ago a coal analysis was a complicated puzzle to most people. But recently it has become an economic necessity to scrutinize the coal bill as carefully as the food bill, and we have learned that a chemical analysis, when properly made from a sample properly taken, is the surest test of a coal's fuel value. This value is generally stated in terms of the British thermal unit.

Manufacturers and large commercial houses have now found it a matter of economy to determine the heating value of fuel purchased for power or heating, and the coal-testing laboratory is considered quite as important as the accounting room. The United States government in making its contracts for coal requires a guaranty not only as to burning quality but also as to ash content. It goes even much farther than this and makes analyses of samples taken from each shipment to determine whether the standard set by the contract is being maintained.

From time to time during the last six years the United States has made analyses of a large number of samples of coal collected by geologists from various states and fields. Most of the samples were taken in anticipation of the publication of a geologic report on the field from which they were obtained, but for various reasons the preparation of the several reports has been greatly delayed, and some of them have been postponed for consolidation with reports on other areas. In view of the fact that the analyses are valuable to persons interested in the fields from which the samples were taken, the Geological Survey has published the data for more than 160 of these samples.

A few years ago such tests were unknown and the larger consumers of coal like the smaller ones were compelled to learn by sad experience when coal was not high grade.

Could the government's method of testing coal be made available to the smaller dealers and to the consumer, much of real good would undoubtedly grow out of it.

At present of course, the method is a little too complicated and expensive for general use.

The time may come, however, when coal can be graded for market with the same satisfactory results that now obtains to the testing and classification of eggs and other produce. It certainly would not be more difficult.

Good Training For Business Is Ignored

By LEWIS NIXON
Former Ship Builder, New York

As far as fitting our children for business is concerned, the public schools of the United States are far inferior to those of European countries and far inferior to what they should be.

They are particularly deficient in foreign language instruction.

The systematic education of 90 per cent. of our public school children ends with their graduation.

Commercial methods and foreign languages must be made part of the public school course.

A boy or girl of fourteen ought at least to know enough of the social, religious and political customs and the language of the people with whom he may one day have to do business to whet his appetite for more. This is a business age.

The average American school boy, after eight years in public school, doesn't know where the principal cities in the United States are located.

Poetry For Today

ALWAYS SOMETHING DOING.

The baseball days are nearly o'er;
Soon none will ask, "What is the score?"
Then thick young men with bushy hair
In football scraps will mix for fair.

The "Own-Your-Home" suburbanite
Has finished his mosquito fight.
Ere long the cellar he will hunt
And start in on his furnace stunt.

The days are quickly drawing near
When 'twill be chill for too much beer.

'Tis then the cafe man will turn
And furnish hot things from an urn.

The campaign orators now talk
From San Francisco to New York;
But when they cease 'tis safe to bet
We'll still hear from the suffraget.

Soon to the iceman we can say:
'Leave smaller chunks here from today.'

But when the iceman's mine is done
The coal man comes and gets our mon.

Pair Arrested For Jail Delivery

Milford Wolfe and Mrs. Wm. Wolfe, both of Chillicothe, have been charged with aiding in the jail delivery at that place recently, when seven prisoners sawed their way to freedom.

William Wolfe was one of the prisoners, and Mrs. Wolfe is his wife, while Milford is a brother. Milford Wolfe waived examination to the charge of assisting in the jail delivery, and was bound over in $500 bond, while the woman stood trial.

William Bradford, whose home is in this city and who has been in trouble before, it is said, confessed that the wife of Wm. Wolfe and Milford Wolfe are the couple who furnished the saws and assisted them in sawing their way to freedom.

Bradford is one of the four fugitives captured.

THE MEN WHO SUCCEED

As heads of large enterprises are men of great energy. Success, today, demands health. To all is to fail. It's utter folly for a man to endure a weak, run-down, half alive condition when Electric Bitters will put him right on his feet in short order. "Four bottles did me more real good than any other medicine I ever took," writes Chas. B. Allen, Sylva, Ga. "After years of suffering with rheumatism, liver trouble, stomach disorders and deranged kidneys, I am again, thanks to Electric Bitters, sound and well." Try them. HIGH PRICES IN EUROPE.

In addition to its troubles on account of lack of cash to meet its indebtedness and other engagements of the larger sort, Germany now has a high-priced food problem on its hands. The latter is far from being new, but it has now reached a stage in which societies of workers as well as municipalities are appealing to the government for relief. Alarmed at the situation, the government is understood to be planning radical action. It is considering the advisability of admitting Argentine chilled meat.

Theoretically, such meats are now admitted, but they are subject to restrictions that, in reality, virtually excludes them. All of them that run the gamut are so small in quantity that they have practically no effect on local prices. The United States remembers, in its case a few years ago, how Germany's cast-iron custom house regulations shut out meat and meat products from this side of the Atlantic which were pronounced wholesome and in every way unobjectionable by experts on both sides of the water, including most of those of Germany. At last a little relief from this embargo was obtained, but the restrictions are still what our exporters consider to be needlessly harsh.

The Berlin Government, however, is aroused to the necessity of doing something to furnish relief to its workers, and the result is expected to be that there will be an increase in imports from the United States, as well as from Argentina. This problem of high cost of food besets Europe as well as the United States. France, England, Italy and other countries are battling with it, in various ways. Moreover, the burden of high prices is far more serious over there, especially in Germany, than it is here, because of the narrower margin there between wages and general cost of living. For the United States there is prospect of some relief this fall and winter because of the immense crops. Already wholesale prices of many of the food products over here are said to be on the decline, although the lowering prices may not yet have struck the retailers.—St. Louis Globe.

One of the men in the Philadelphia zoo was asked, by a visitor, what the hump on the camel's back, was for. "What's it for?" repeated the keeper, in a dazed way.

"Yes, of what value is it?" The keeper thought real hard for a minute, and then said, gravely: "Why, sir, do you suppose folks would come miles to see this animal if it didn't have a hump? Sir, a camel if it didn't have a hump might just as well be a cow. That's the use of the hump!"

DULY SUMMONED.

The Republican party officially and formally opened the national and state campaign in Columbus on Saturday and those residents of the Buckeye state, if there were any, who entertained any doubt on the subject or were wandering in the darkness of utter ignorance, may now rest assured that there is a real campaign on.

Perhaps the most distinguishing features of the very able speech of Senator Lodge, the central figure and orator at the meeting Saturday was the absence of attack on the party's ancient enemies—the Democrats—and the merciless grueling which was handed out to former Republicans now arrayed under the banner of the Bull Moose and following the fortunes of an ex-president, elected by the Republican voters on a Republican ticket.

If ex-President Roosevelt and his followers entertain a lingering hope that their work this year is to be directed to the destruction of the Republican party, to be followed four years hence by a campaign which will sweep Mr. Roosevelt into office at the head of a new party—they are all doomed to disappointment if the words and the attitude of the Republican speakers and leaders is at all significant.

That the chasm between Republicans and Progressives is deeper, darker and wider than the one which separates Republicans and Democrats was made clearly evident at Monday's meeting.

The voters of Ohio are now duly notified that a national election is approaching; that there are three separate and distinct parties with no branches battling for preference, and the aforesaid voters will proceed to govern themselves accordingly.

GETTING AT COAL FACTS.

A few years ago a coal analysis was a complicated puzzle to most people. But recently it has become an economic necessity to scrutinize the coal bill as carefully as the food bill, and we have learned that a chemical analysis, when properly made from a sample properly taken, is the surest test of a coal's fuel value. This value is generally stated in terms of the British thermal unit.

Manufacturers and large commercial houses have now found it a matter of economy to determine the heating value of fuel purchased for power or heating, and the coal-testing laboratory is considered quite as important as the accounting room. The United States government in making its contracts for coal requires a guaranty not only as to burning quality but also as to ash content. It goes even much farther than this and makes analyses of samples taken from each shipment to determine whether the standard set by the contract is being maintained.

From time to time during the last six years the United States has made analyses of a large number of samples of coal collected by geologists from various states and fields. Most of the samples were taken in anticipation of the publication of a geologic report on the field from which they were obtained, but for various reasons the preparation of the several reports has been greatly delayed, and some of them have been postponed for consolidation with reports on other areas. In view of the fact that the analyses are valuable to persons interested in the fields from which the samples were taken, the Geological Survey has published the data for more than 160 of these samples.

A few years ago such tests were unknown and the larger consumers of coal like the smaller ones were compelled to learn by sad experience when coal was not high grade.

Could the government's method of testing coal be made available to the smaller dealers and to the consumer, much of real good would undoubtedly grow out of it.

At present of course, the method is a little too complicated and expensive for general use.

The time may come, however, when coal can be graded for market with the same satisfactory results that now obtains to the testing and classification of eggs and other produce. It certainly would not be more difficult.

Good Training For Business Is Ignored

By LEWIS MILAN
Former State Senator, New York

As far as fitting our children for business is concerned, the public schools of the United States are far inferior to those of European countries and far inferior to what they should be.

They are particularly deficient in foreign language instruction.

The systematic education of 90 per cent. of our public school children ends with their graduation.

Commercial methods and foreign languages must be made part of the public school course.

A boy or girl of fourteen ought at least to know enough of the social, religious and political customs and the language of the people with whom he may one day have to do business to what his appetite for more. This is a business age.

The average American school boy, after eight years in public school, doesn't know where the principal cities in the United States are located.

Poetry For Today

ALWAYS SOMETHING DOING.

The baseball days are nearly o'er;
Soon none will ask, "What is the score?"

Then thick young men with bushy hair
In football scraps will mix for fair.

The "Own-Your-Home" suburbanite
Has finished his mosquito fight.
Ere long the cellar he will hunt
And start in on his furnace stunt.

The days are quickly drawing near
When 'twill be chill for too much beer.

'Tis then the cafe man will turn
And furnish hot things from an urn.

The campaign orators now talk
From San Francisco to New York;
But when they cease 'tis safe to bet
We'll still hear from the suffraget.

Soon to the iceman we can say:
'Leave smaller chunks here from to-day.'

But when the iceman's mine is done
The coal man comes and gets our mon.

Dr. C. E. Page Presides Over Meeting of Bull Moose Delegates From All Over Seventh District When Candidacy of Local Man Is Given Unanimous Indorsement.

At a meeting of the Bull Moose delegates from the Seventh Congressional District, held in Springfield, Monday, which was presided over by Dr. C. E. Page of this city, the candidacy of Dr. R. M. Hughey, Republican nominee for Congress, was unanimously indorsed.

The Progressives went on record as being de-lighted to support a congressional candidate running on the Republican ticket, and at a meeting of the Republicans it was announced that whenever the Progressives want to return to the Republican fold, they will be as welcome as the blue birds in the balmy spring time.

The Springfield Sun, reporting the meeting, says:

"At a congressional convention held in the Kelly building yesterday afternoon, Dr. R. M. Hughey was unanimously endorsed as the Progressive candidate for congress in the Seventh Ohio district. Every county in the district was represented, there being 22 delegates in all present.

"C. E. Page, of Washington C. H., was chairman of the convention, and C. W. Smith, of this city, was its secretary. No other nominee for congress was mentioned, and the secretary was instructed to cast the vote of the entire convention for the Fayette county physician. George W. Lindsay, of Circleville, was appointed a committee of one to bear the tidings to him.

"Dr. Hughey has already filed his petitions for the Progressive nomination, and C. W. Smith, last evening, announced that as a member of the state central committee of the Progressive party, he was authorized at Akron last Saturday to the progressiveness of such candidates as were acceptable to the Progressive party. Dr. Hughey, he said, would receive his O. K., for the reason that he considered him a Progressive.

"Dr. C. E. Gallagher, of Mt. Sterling, Republican candidate for state senator, will be asked to get out his petition for the Progressive nomination. Representatives of the new party from Clark and Madison counties, said at yesterday's meeting, that Dr. Gallagher was acceptable to the Progressives of both counties. Campaign has not been heard from officially, but is reported to be in favor of Gallagher.

"The Republicans last night organized a McKinley club, tomorrow night the Democrats expect to organize a Democratic club for the younger men of the party."

Glory! Glory! Work Begun

On New Sidewalks Between the Railroad and the Creek on South Main Street.

Contractor E. S. Bell is busy at work with a large force of men putting in new concrete sidewalks between the C. A. and C. Ry. (old road) and the C. H. & D. Ry tracks on S. Main street.

Monday morning, bright and early work was begun tearing up the old walk on the east side of the street, and by noon Tuesday all the old brick had been taken out, the excavation made and the sand and cinder filling in placed and a gang of men were ripping up the old brick walk on the west side.

Mr. Bell states that the old road has gone to work to obey the order of the city just as soon as a contract could be made after notice and the specifications were served. Not only that but the reliable Pennsylvania has gone one better than the city ordered and will put down a fine 12-foot wide walk between its tracks, a distance of probably sixty feet.

Judging from the way the work has progressed so far, Contractor Bell will be able to rush the big work through before bad weather comes to stay.

So far the C. H. & D. Ry. has made no move to fix up along its property line. The Pennsylvania has shown what can be done and the authorities should get after the C. H. & D. now with a sharp stick and make that company "score down" the line and come through with the proper improvements.

The people of Washington feel grateful to the "old road" officials for going ahead with this much needed work. The neatness and promptness with which it does things the regard substantially evidenced which is held for the rights of the community, explain in a large measure the popularity of the "old road" and the unpopularity of some of the other railroads having a profitable depot in Washington.

People of the south side who had about abandoned all hope of relief from the awful conditions which have so long obtained, have kindled new hopes on the action of the Pennsylvania.

The monthly stock sales held in this city Tuesday drew quite a large crowd into the city in the afternoon, but the morning sales were very few.

As usual a number of good horses were offered for sale and found a ready market. In fact the demand for good animals was much greater than the supply, as some of the horse dealers—and there were a great many present—were buying all they could secure at anything like a reasonable price.

Considering the amount of work the farmers have on hands, there was a surprisingly large attendance.

Monday morning, bright and early work was begun tearing up the old walk on the east side of the street, and by noon Tuesday all the old brick had been taken out, the excavation made and the sand and cinder filling in placed and a gang of men were ripping up the old brick walk on the west side.

Mr. Bell states that the old road has gone to work to obey the order of the city just as soon as a contract could be made after notice and the specifications were served. Not only that but the reliable Pennsylvania has gone one better than the city ordered and will put down a fine 12-foot wide walk between its tracks, a distance of probably sixty feet.

Judging from the way the work has progressed so far, Contractor Bell will be able to rush the big work through before bad weather comes to stay.

So far the C. H. & D. Ry. has made no move to fix up along its property line. The Pennsylvania has shown what can be done and the authorities should get after the C. H. & D. now with a sharp stick and make that company "score down" the line and come through with the proper improvements.

The people of Washington feel grateful to the "old road" officials for going ahead with this much needed work. The neatness and promptness with which it does things the regard substantially evidenced which is held for the rights of the community, explain in a large measure the popularity of the "old road" and the unpopularity of some of the other railroads having a profitable depot in Washington.

People of the south side who had about abandoned all hope of relief from the awful conditions which have so long obtained, have kindled new hopes on the action of the Pennsylvania.

Regular Monthly Stock Sales Today

The monthly stock sales held in this city Tuesday drew quite a large crowd into the city in the afternoon, but the morning sales were very few.

As usual a number of good horses were offered for sale and found a ready market. In fact the demand for good animals was much greater than the supply, as some of the horse dealers—and there were a great many present—were buying all they could secure at anything like a reasonable price.

Considering the amount of work the farmers have on hands, there was a surprisingly large attendance.

Arrangements For Vanskoy Funeral

After Coroner L. P. Howell had viewed the remains of Mr. Pearl Vanskoy at the Fayette Canning plant about 3:30 Monday afternoon, the remains were removed to the Klever Undertaking establishment and prepared for burial.

Tuesday morning they were taken to the deceased's home in Bloomingburg and funeral services will be held at the residence Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, followed by interment in the Bloomingburg cemetery.

FUNERAL OF THOS. CULLEN.

Following impressive funeral services Mr. Thomas Cullen was laid to rest in St. Colman's cemetery yesterday morning.

St. Colman's church was filled with sorrowing friends at half past nine o'clock, when Rev. Father Fogarty conducted the requiem high mass.

Robert and Charles Cullen, nephews of the deceased sung the mass, and the hymn, "Lead Kindly Light," Miss Margaret McDonald, organist.

Many handsome floral remembrances were sent, among them sprays from the Elmwood Aid Society and from Geo. Gregg's Shoe store.

The pallbearers were Mr. P. J. Dempsey, Mr. John Ward, Lancaster; Messrs. Robert and Charles Cullen, Charles Brady and McRoan.

Attending the funeral from a distance was Roadmaster James Riley, of the Pennsylvania R. R., with which road Mr. Cullen had been section foreman for 32 years, and wife, from Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Dempsey, Columbus; Mrs. T. H. Moore, Mr. John Ward and daughter, Miss Mazie, of Lancaster.

NOTICE.

Wednesday at 2:30 p. m., in the church parlor.

COMMITTEE.

Sheriff Drives Gipsies Onward

Sheriff Nelson was summoned to near Eber first of the week to move a number of gypsies who had encamped at that place.

Complaint had been made that the campers were burning fence rails, and when Sheriff Nelson appeared on the scene the party agreed to leave immediately, and did so.

The farmers are learning that the roving bands of questionable characters have no right to camp along their farms, even though they are encamped on the public road, and whenever the opportunity presents itself the nomads are driven onward under threat of arrest.

FARM AND HOME

Useful Information--All Questions Answered

COST OF KEEPING HORSES.

The truth of the statement that the methods of handling and the stable accommodations have a marked influence on the amount of feed required to keep a horse in good condition has been proven by investigations made in Columbus by the animal husbandry students of the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University. These investigations have been carried on for several years, over 1,000 head of horses have been included. It was found that the concerns with the poorest accommodations for their horses and where the least care was given were paying out the largest amount for feed. The average cost of keeping horses in Columbus is 40.1 cents a day, and contrary to the popular belief, heavy express horses are fed for nearly two and a half cents less than light driving horses. The lowest cost was $5.902 per year in the case of an underfed animal, and the highest $229.02, a stallion being fitted for show. One noticeable fact was the absence of variety in the ration, the principal roughage being timothy hay the year round and it was common to find this feed given in excess. Corn and oats constituted the principal grains fed. In one instance a saving of $11.15 per animal or a yearly saving of $669 was brought about by the use of four pounds of oats straw in place of a similar amount of hay.

A NEW HEALTH DRINK.

A new health drink, known as fermented milk, is being prepared and sold by the dairy department of the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University. A bacteria, called bacillus bulgaricus, is the active principle in this milk, which acts as an intestinal disinfectant and helps to keep the body healthy. Other bacteria cannot live in the presence of this germ, which was discovered and named by Dr. Metchnikoff, the famous scientist. In preparing fermented milk one part of the culture of bacillus bulgaricus and one part of the ordinary lactic acid culture are added to two parts of sterilized skim milk. Enough pasteurized sweet cream to make the mixture contain two per cent butterfat is then put in and the whole churned about five minutes to mix thoroughly. It is then put up in fancy bottles and placed on the market. This milk does not whey off and the longer it stands at the proper temperature the better it gets.

THE DUCHESS OF MARLBOROUGH

"Say, Grace! do you believe the Duchess of Marlborough ever gave a letter to Mrs. Mason, recommending her hair treatment?"

"Yes, Mary, of course, I do. There is a little book that comes with each tube of the shampoo that contains a photo reproduction of her handwritten letter, also one from Mme. Melba, Baroness Ramsey, and Mrs. Levi P. Morton."

"But, Grace, I never heard of a private formula of a noted hair specialist enjoyed exclusively by millionaires, royalty and the elite being brought within reach of the general public before, did you?"

"No, Mary, but it is really wonderful what Mrs. Mason's Old English Shampoo Cream will do for one's hair."

Blackmer & Tanquary will have hard work to supply the demand if they continue to sell it for 25c a tube, enough for three or four shampoos. They will return your money if you don't like it.

Bulgaria Yearning For "Crack" At Turks

Bulgaria Discloses Unanimity of Sentiment For War.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 24.—An investigation of conditions in Bulgaria discloses a unanimity of sentiment that that the country is on the eve of a long-cherished war against Turkey.

Unless the conferences which the Russian foreign minister, M. Sazonoff, will have in London with British statesmen are fruitful for Macedonia, the war party is likely to gain the upper hand.

The army is already taking active measures. Railroad tracks are guarded throughout their whole extent, detachments are stationed at bridges, and requisition commissions are canvassing the frontier towns. Preparations also have been made to acquire ample provisions.

Progressive Charge Is Now Denied By Taftites

Washington, Sept. 24.—Progressives complain bitterly that President Taft is using the patronage club on the heads of his political enemies, holding public office. They charge that the administration is "cleaning up" in Texas and other states where practically all the jobs are now held by Roosevelt men. So far as is known here, the president has not embarked on a general policy of removing from office men who are known to be friendly to Colonel Roosevelt.

Federal Officials Decline to Discuss Probe of Bank Failure.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Department of justice officials declined to say whether their investigation of the failure of the Second National bank of Cincinnati would warrant prosecution by the authorities of George B. Cox, but it is understood that nothing thus far has been unearthed which would necessitate action against Mr. Cox. Cox was a heavy stockholder in the Ford & Johnson Furniture company, loans to which are alleged to have caused the downfall of the Second National. Cox was not an officer in the Second National, but was an officer in a trust company which collapsed at the same time.

First Footguards, Germany's Swiftest Company, Courtmartialled.

Berlin, Sept. 24.—The entire Sixth company of the First Footguards, including Captain Von Schlich, 11 non-commissioned officers and 110 men, was courtmartialled at Potsdam on the charge of cheating in a shooting competition in August for the coveted Kaiser prize. The Prussian army conditions for the shooting competition limited each man to 30 rounds, but some officers of another regiment saw the men of the First Footguards company taking extra cartridges from their boots and haversacks. A prompt investigation showed that the men carried 1,700 illicit cartridges.

Captain Von Schlich is not accused of complicity in the cheating, but of lacking supervision.

The First Footguards is one of the most exalted regiments in the German army. The emperor's sons served in it. The case is going on in secret.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

President Taft Will Soon Place All Fourth-Class Postmasters.

Washington, Sept. 24.—It was practically decided that President Taft in the future will issue an executive order placing all fourth-class postmasters in the classified service. This order, relieving 35,038 postmasters from the uncertainty of political appointment, will be one of the most comprehensive and far-reaching, as affecting the civil service, ever issued by a president of the United States.

The president expressed the hope that the feeling is growing in favor of putting all government servants on the basis of permanent tenure.

FARM AND HOME

Useful Information--All Questions Answered

COST OF KEEPING HORSES.

The truth of the statement that the methods of handling and the stable accommodations have a marked influence on the amount of feed required to keep a horse in good condition has been proven by investigations made in Columbus by the animal husbandry students of the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University. These investigations have been carried on for several years, over 1,000 head of horses have been included. It was found that the concerns with the poorest accommodations for their horses and where the least care was given were paying out the largest amount for feed. The average cost of keeping horses in Columbus is 40.1 cents a day, and contrary to the popular belief, heavy express horses are fed for nearly two and a half cents less than light driving horses. The lowest cost was $8.902 per year in the case of an underfed animal, and the highest $229.02, a stallion being fitted for show. One noticeable fact was the absence of variety in the ration, the principal roughage being timothy hay the year round and it was common to find this feed given in excess. Corn and oats constituted the principal grains fed. In one instance a saving of $11.15 per animal or a yearly saving of $669 was brought about by the use of four pounds of oats straw in place of a similar amount of hay.

A NEW HEALTH DRINK.

A new health drink, known as fermented milk, is being prepared and sold by the dairy department of the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University. A bacteria, called bacillus bulgaricus, is the active principle in this milk, which acts as an intestinal disinfectant and helps to keep the body healthy. Other bacteria cannot live in the presence of this germ, which was discovered and named by Dr. Metchnikoff, the famous scientist. In preparing fermented milk one part of the culture of bacillus bulgaricus and one part of the ordinary lactic acid culture are added to two parts of sterilized skim milk. Enough pasteurized sweet cream to make the mixture contain two per cent butterfat is then put in and the whole churned about five minutes to mix thoroughly. It is then put up in fancy bottles and placed on the market. This milk does not whey off and the longer it stands at the proper temperature the better it gets.

THE DUCHESS OF MARLBOROUGH

"Say, Grace! do you believe the Duchess of Marlborough ever gave a letter to Mrs. Mason, recommending her hair treatment?"

"Yes, Mary, of course, I do. There is a little book that comes with each tube of the shampoo that contains a photo reproduction of her handwritten letter, also one from Mme. Melba, Baroness Ramsey, and Mrs. Levi P. Morton."

"But, Grace, I never heard of a private formula of a noted hair specialist enjoyed exclusively by millionaires, royalty and the elite being brought within reach of the general public before, did you?"

"No, Mary, but it is really wonderful what Mrs. Mason's Old English Shampoo Cream will do for one's hair."

Blackmer & Tanquary will have hard work to supply the demand if they continue to sell it for 25c a tube, enough for three or four shampoos. They will return your money if you don't like it.

Bulgaria Yearning For "Crack" At Turks

Bulgaria Discloses Unanimity of Sentiment For War.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 24.—An investigation of conditions in Bulgaria discloses a unanimity of sentiment that that the country is on the eve of a long-cherished war against Turkey.

Unless the conferences which the Russian foreign minister, M. Sazonoff, will have in London with British statesmen are faithful for Macedonia, the war party is likely to gain the upper hand.

The army is already taking active measures. Railroad tracks are guarded throughout their whole extent, detachments are stationed at bridges, and requisition commissions are canvassing the frontier towns. Preparations also have been made to acquire ample provisions.

Progressive Charge Is Now Denied By Taftites

Washington, Sept. 24.—Progressives complain bitterly that President Taft is using the patronage club on the heads of his political enemies, holding public office. They charge that the administration is "cleaning up" in Texas and other states where practically all the jobs are now held by Roosevelt men. So far as is known here, the president has not embarked on a general policy of removing from office men who are known to be friendly to Colonel Roosevelt.

Federal Officials Decline to Discuss Probe of Bank Failure.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Department of justice officials declined to say whether their investigation of the failure of the Second National bank of Cincinnati would warrant prosecution by the authorities of George B. Cox was a heavy stockholder in the Ford & Johnson Furniture company, loans to which are alleged to have caused the downfall of the Second National. Cox was not an officer in the Second National, but was an officer in a trust company which collapsed at the same time.

FOREIGN SHIPPERS THREATEN SUPREMACY OF THE CANAL

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—That the manufacturers and shippers interests of the United States will have to exert themselves to the utmost if they wish to compete with other maritime nations in the race for trade through the Panama canal is the firm conviction of John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American Union, who has just prepared a report on the subject after a visit to Europe.

Mr. Barrett has made public advance sheets of his report, which will soon be printed in full. The Pan-American Union, with headquarters in Washington, is an official international organization maintained by all of the republics of North and South America for the development of commerce among them. In his report Mr. Barrett will say:

"Only about a year and a half remain before the Panama canal will be opened to commercial traffic. Unless the manufacturing, exporting, importing and shipping interests of the United States exert themselves to the limit during the next 18 months they will find that they will be distanced from the start by foreign competitors in deriving practical advantages from the canal and the rapidly developing field of Latin America."

"Every important port of Great Britain, France, Germany, Holland, Belgium, Scandinavia, Spain and Austria is being improved to the highest degree of efficiency for overseas commerce."

"Every European shipbuilding yard of recognized standing is busy to its capacity constructing ocean going merchant vessels. Old established steamship lines are adding up to date vessels to their fleets and new companies are being formed and ordering ships."

Activity In Europe.

"European governments are instructing their diplomatic and consular agents to study and report upon every phase of trade opportunity expected to result from the canal. Their chambers of commerce and their commercial organizations are co-operating along the same lines and the business schools are educating trained men for the field. Government officials and representative men in private life are showing particular hospitality and courtesies to the visiting representative men of Latin America and all the other countries whose trade they want. Their banking and investment houses are extending their foreign facilities. Their private business companies of already large established trade and their new companies are sending agents and scouts to Latin America and all parts of the world affected by the canal to investigate trade possibilities."

"In Japan three steamship companies are building vessels for the canal. Japanese banks are considering the opening of branches in Latin America. A score of Japanese manufacturing, exporting and importing houses have numerous agents in Central and South America.

"One Chinese-owned steamship company is planning to operate a line from Shanghai and Hong Kong to Central and South America. Austria's commercial organizations are sending men to South America to develop trade, while Australia and New Zealand are planning to establish a canal steamship line of their own. A new line of freight vessels is to run from Calcutta or Bombay to South America. Canada will run two new direct lines, respectively from Vancouver and Montreal to the corresponding coasts of Latin America."

"The west, or Pacific coast of South America, reaching 5,000 miles south from Panama, is showing great preliminary activity. Chili, Peru and Bolivia are spending $50,000,000 in opening up their interiors with railroads. Chili is building, at Valparaiso, a new artificial harbor to cost $15,000,000. Guayaquil, the principal port of Ecuador and one of the best harbors on the Pacific ocean, is to be made sanitary at a large expense. Callao, the chief port of Peru, is being improved."

Heavy Outlay in South America.

"On the east coast the activity is even greater, for both Argentina and Uruguay will spend nearly $30,000,000 in port improvements at Buenos Ayres and Montevideo respectively. Brazil is putting in first-class condition every port along her three thousand miles of coast line from Rio Grande du Sul, in the south, to Para, at the mouth of the Amazon. One hundred million dollars are being expended in constructing new railroads into the interior of Brazil. Venezuela and Colombia, Central America, Mexico, Cuba and the other West Indian countries, are awakening also, to the significance and possibilities of the canal and are sending agents and appointing commissions to study the situation as it affects them."

The conclusion of Mr. Barrett is that "while the United States government and some of its commercial organizations and interests are doing much to get ready for the canal and to develop Pan-American trade and deserve great credit for what they are doing, they must, in view of these facts, redouble and extend their efforts. Otherwise they will trail the international race for the trade of the Panama canal and Latin America. They must make their slogan from now on without any let up, 'Get ready for the Panama canal and go after Pan-American commerce.'"

The Pan-American Union stands ready, Mr. Barrett added, to supply full data regarding the commerce and progress of the 20 Latin American countries and the possibilities of the Panama canal.

Apple Growers Face Problems

Leading apple growers of the west, financiers, railroad men and business men will meet in Spokane, Washington, November 11 for a most important conference, having for its subject the discussion of the ever-increasing problem of distribution of the big Northwest apple crop.

This is a problem which many experts versed in the fruit industry believe is at the heart of the future success of the apple industry. Speaking of the plan, W. T. Day, chairman of the board of trustees of the fifth National Apple Show, who will call the convention, said: "All conversant with the situation agree there is no danger of overproduction. But the big problem is distribution—find the markets and getting our product there at the right time. We will bring the attention of some of the best minds in the country to bear on this problem, in the hope of at least throwing some light upon it. We also shall discuss the matter of financing the apple crops of future years."

HILLSBORO WILL RAISE $30,000 FOR HOSPITAL

A plan to raise $30,000 for the purpose of building additions to the Hospital building, repairing, remodeling, furnishing and equipping it and securing a permanent endowment for the hospital is under way, says the Hillsboro News-Record.

Bert Wells, of Dayton, and Grant S. Whitslar, two professional promoters are here and will give their time and energy to pushing the plan. Both Mr. Wells and Mr. Whitslar have successfully used the plan that will be tried here in many other places for the promotion of hospitals and Y. M. C. A. buildings.

Mr. Wells was seen at Dr. Beam's office Tuesday evening by a representative of the News-Herald. Mr. Wells is a very pleasant entertaining talker and seems to have complete faith that they will be able to raise the $30,000.

The plan as outlined by Mr. Wells was as follows:

A supper will be given next Wednesday evening, when over 200 of the prominent men and women of Hillsboro and Highland county will be present.

At that time 20 teams of 10 people each will be organized. Ten of the teams will be composed of men and ten of women. Each team will have a captain.

A list containing the names of between five and six thousand of the best people of the county has been prepared. The Strain room on East Main Street which will accommodate the 200 members of the teams has been secured and this room will be the headquarters for the work.

Following the organization of the teams on Wednesday evening the teams will meet at the headquarters at noon Thursday. At that time a luncheon will be served and the members of the teams will begin the work of soliciting the $30,000. Each team selecting from the list the people to be seen by its members.

At noon on each day up to and including Wednesday of the following week, the members of the teams will meet at headquarters for luncheon, report the result of the previous day's work and arrange for the work of the following day.

The president of Hewitt Bros., Soap Company, Dayton, Ohio, says: "Buy two cakes of Easy Task soap for ten cents; use one bar and if it isn't just what we say it is, you get your dime back in a jiffy." It is a strong claim to say that Easy Task soap cuts the work of washday in half, but the fact can be proven by the evidence of thousands of delighted women.

Bad Housing Basis of Pauperism.

Washington, Sept. 24.—"Bad housing" was declared to be the basis of pauperism, which is the burden of modern society, according to Dr. Lawrence F. Flick of Philadelphia, who addressed the national conference of Catholic charities, which convened at the Catholic university. "Housing is closely related to health and through it to efficiency," said Dr. Flick. "Improvement of housing conditions in the municipalities is often retarded by politicians," said the speaker.

Many Kinds Of Good Cookies

In the October Woman's Home companion, Fannie Merritt Farmer, cookery editor of that periodical, publishes an article entitled "A Dozen Kinds Of Good Cookies." Along with her article she publishes twelve receipts. An extract from the article together with three receipts follows:

"The perfect loaf of cake requires great care and judgment in the combining of ingredients as well as in the baking, therefore it seems wise for the inexperienced to turn their attention first to cookies of both the rolled and dropped varieties, if they are intent on making constant success."

"GINGER SNAPS—Heat one cupful of molasses to the boiling point, and pour into a bowl over one-half cupful or shortening (butter and lard in equal proportions). Mix and sift three and one-fourth cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of ginger, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of salt, and one-half teaspoonful of soda. Add to the first mixture and chill thoroughly. Toss one-fourth on a floured board, and pat and roll very thin; shape with a small round cutter first dipped in flour. Place near together on a buttered sheet and bake in a moderate oven."

"VANILLA WAFERS—Cream one-third cupful of shortening (using butter and lard in equal proportions) and add one cupful of sugar gradually, while beating constantly; then add one egg, well beaten, one-fourth cupful of milk, two teaspoonfuls of vanilla, and two cupfuls of flour mixed and sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Roll, shape and bake the same as ginger snaps."

"OATMEAL DROP COOKIES—Work one cupful of shortening until creamy, using all butter or equal proportions of lard and butter. Add one cupful of sugar gradually, while beating constantly; then add two small eggs, beaten until light, one-third cupful of milk, one and one-half cupfuls of rolled oats, one cupful or raisins, seeded and chopped, one-half cupful of chopped English walnut meats. Mix and sift one and one-half cupfuls of flour, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, and one-half teaspoonful each of cinnamon, clove, allspice, and soda. Add to first mixture, and when thoroughly mixed drop from tip of spoon, one and one-half inches apart, on a buttered tin sheet, and bake in a moderate oven."

EXERCISE NECESSARY

Inattention to Regular Physical Exercise Shortens Life and Is of Vital Importance to Those Who Would Live Long and Be Happy.

A local man qualified for discussing the subject of regular and systematic physical exercise, such as may be secured at a gymnasium, has contributed the following interesting article on the great benefits to be derived from the exercise:

The human body is what we make it. Muscle and nerve cells reflect the whole previous hygienic history of man. Nutrition, strength of tissue and organic function are the joint product of diet, exercise and other personal habits of life. Modern conditions of living and of labor are responsible for the deplorable lack of organic vigor, especially among the people of our cities. This tendency to physical degeneration is due principally to lack of muscular exercise involved in sedentary employments. The man who works at the bench or sits in the office must pay the price with his life, sooner or later, by the abridgment of its power day by day, by being cut off before his time or in the degree of health and longevity of his children unless some means is found to counteract the physical deterioration which logically results from his occupation.

The commonest results of lack of muscular exercise are stooping posture, flat chest, protruding abdomen, weak, flabby muscles, inefficient heart action, shortness of breath, lack of endurance, perhaps indigestion and constipation. In short, a general lack of organic vigor.

The best remedy for these conditions is to revert to man's primitive mode of living, out of doors. Since out door occupations are few and this manner of life is impracticable for most men, exercises in the gymnasium have been devised to meet as far as possible, the need. Regular systematic physical training will do much to counteract the evils which spring from intense mental application and close confinement involved in civilization of today.

Do not think that the result of 30 to 45 minutes of physical exercise is of indifferent value. It is not true. It is equal to one tenth of a day's work and the doing of one-tenth of a day's work will keep the average person in good physical condition.

Do not think that after a hard day's mental work you are too tired to do physical work. Change of occupation is in itself a rest, but when the change is in the nature of a recreation you will find yourself surprisingly rested and reinvigorated through and through.

All these hygienic and recreative advantages mentioned are at the disposal of every man and boy in this community, providing he so wills and he that fails to conform to nature's most vital requirements shall pay the price.

FOREIGN SHIPPERS THREATEN SUPREMACY OF THE CANAL

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—That the manufacturers and shippers interests of the United States will have to exert themselves to the utmost if they wish to compete with other maritime nations in the race for trade through the Panama canal is the firm conviction of John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American Union, who has just prepared a report on the subject after a visit to Europe.

Mr. Barrett has made public advance sheets of his report, which will soon be printed in full. The Pan-American Union, with headquarters in Washington, is an official international organization maintained by all of the republics of North and South America for the development of commerce among them. In his report Mr. Barrett will say:

"Only about a year and a half remain before the Panama canal will be opened to commercial traffic. Unless the manufacturing, exporting, importing and shipping interests of the United States exert themselves to the limit during the next 18 months they will find that they will be displaced from the start by foreign competitors in deriving practical advantages from the canal and the rapidly developing field of Latin America.

"Every important port of Great Britain, France, Germany, Holland, Belgium, Scandinavia, Spain, and Austria is being improved to the highest degree of efficiency for overseas commerce.

"Every European shipbuilding yard of recognized standing is busy to its capacity constructing ocean going merchant vessels. Old established steamship lines are adding up to date vessels to their fleets and new companies are being formed and ordering ships.

Activity in Europe.

"European governments are instructing their diplomatic and consular agents to study and report upon every phase of trade opportunity expected to result from the canal. Their chambers of commerce and their commercial organizations are co-operating along the same lines and the business schools are educating trained men for the field. Government officials and representative men in private life are showing particular hospitality and courtesies to the visiting representative men of Latin America and all the other countries whose trade they want. Their banking and investment houses are extending their foreign facilities. Their private business companies of already large established trade and their new companies are sending agents and scouts to Latin America and all parts of the world affected by the canal to investigate trade possibilities.

"In Japan three steamship companies are building vessels for the canal. Japanese banks are considering the opening of branches in Latin America. A score of Japanese manufacturing, exporting and importing houses have numerous agents in Central and South America.

"One Chinese-owned steamship company is planning to operate a line from Shanghai and Hong Kong to Central and South America. Austria's commercial organizations are sending men to South America to develop trade, while Australia and New Zealand are planning to establish a canal steamship line of their own. A new line of freight vessels is to run from Calcutta or Bombay to South America. Canada will run two new direct lines, respectively from Vancouver and Montreal to the corresponding coasts of Latin America.

"The west, or Pacific coast of South America, reaching 5,000 miles south from Panama, is showing great preliminary activity. Chili, Peru and Bolivia are spending $50,000,000 in opening up their interiors with railroads. Chili is building, at Valparaiso, a new artificial harbor to cost $15,000,000. Guayaquil, the principal port of Ecuador and one of the best harbors on the Pacific ocean, is to be made sanitary at a large expense. Callao, the chief port of Peru, is being improved.

Heavy Outlay in South America.

"On the east coast the activity is even greater, for both Argentina and Uruguay will spend nearly $30,000,000 in port improvements at Buenos Ayres and Montevideo respectively. Brazil is putting in first-class condition every port along her three thousand miles of coast line from Rio Grande du Sul, in the south, to Para, at the mouth of the Amazon. One hundred million dollars are being expended in constructing new railroads into the interior of Brazil, Venezuela and Colombia. Central America, Mexico, Cuba and the other West Indian countries, are awakening also, to the significance and possibilities of the canal and are sending agents and appointing commissions to study the situation as it affects them."

The conclusion of Mr. Barrett is that "while the United States government and some of its commercial organizations and interests are doing much to get ready for the canal and to develop Pan-American trade and deserve great credit for what they are doing, they must, in view of these facts, redouble and extend their efforts. Otherwise they will trail the international race for the trade of the Panama canal and Latin America. They must make their slogan from now on without any let up, 'Get ready for the Panama canal and go after Pan-American commerce.'"

The Pan-American Union stands ready, Mr. Barrett added, to supply full data regarding the commerce and progress of the 20 Latin American countries and the possibilities of the Panama canal.

From Jimtown

"I see," said the hotel manager, looking over the list of arrivals, that we have a newly married couple here—Mr. Kirby Sprouts and wife. But the register does not state where they are from.

"I have no idea where they are from," confessed the clerk. "They were so rattled when they registered that I didn't have the heart to call them back. But I got a line on 'em later."

"And how?"

"Well, the waiter says that the man says to the lady at breakfast this morning, 'Pass me those molasses, Pearlle,' and she says—"

"Never mind the rest. Put down Jimtown opposite their names."

Keeps Your Stove "Always Ready for Company"

A bright, clean, glossy stove is the joy and pride of every housekeeper. But it is hard to keep a stove nice and shiny—unless Black Silk Stove Polish is used.

Here is the reason: Black Silk Stove Polish sticks right to the iron. It doesn't rub off or dust off. Its shine lasts four times longer than the shine of any other polish. You only need to polish one-fourth as often, yet your stove will be cleaner, brighter and better looking than it has been since you first bought it. Use on your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove. Get a can from your hardware or stove dealer. If you don't find it better than any other stove polish you have ever used before, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. But we feel sure you will agree with the thousands of other up-to-date women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the "best stove polish ever made."

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

LIQUID OR PASTE ONE QUALITY

Be sure to get the genuine. Black Silk Stove Polish costs you no more than the ordinary kind. Keep your grates, registers, fenders and stove pipes bright and free from rusting by using Black Silk ABRUISING EXAMINE! Brush free with clean cloth or emery cloth.

Use BLACK SILK METAL POLISH for silverware, nickel, tinware or brass. It works quickly, easily, and leaves a brilliant surface. It has no equal for use on automobiles.

SPEAKING OF NERVE

"Is this a good place for nerves?" askt the invalid.

"I should say it is," replied the proprietor of the Health Resort. "Why, when I first opened up here I only charged $2.50 a day, and now I've got the nerve to charge $5.

This town must be a good place for nerves, judging by what some clothiers ask $20 and $25 for—garments neither styled, make or fabric as good as what we price at $15 $18 and $20

Even if our suits were as high priced as others they'd be cheaper, on account of their uncopiable style mannerisms.

Y'know, smartness counts these days—the era of the coat cut like a potato sack is happily over.

Suppose you "happen along" and "look them over"—it's better than to "overlook" them

FRA DIAVOLO

The Great Photo Opera And

A $25,000 Production in Three Reels

ALL-STAR CAST:

Fra Diavolo..... Billy Quirk
Lord Allcash..... George Paxton
Zerlina..... Blanche Cornwall
Another Brigand..... Harry Harvey

Lorenzo..... Darwin Karr
Lady Allcash..... Fanny Simpson
Brigand..... Lee Beggs
Troops, Brigands, Citizens, Servants

BEHIND the cloak of a cavalier and the gallantry of a gentleman, Fra Diavolo hides his cunning, his treachery, his perfidy and faithlessness. While he winningly smiles to your face he is ready to stab you when your back is turned. Quick as a flash he changes from a harmless-looking, care-free and nonchalant gentleman to a venomous serpent and a demon. He is the terror of the countryside—an outlaw whose identity is enveloped in mystery. A reward of Ten Thousand Dollars is offered for his capture—dead or alive.

This production shows Fra Diavolo at work and at play, his plots and his schemes. He is shown flattering, beautiful women, learning their secrets and plotting to rob them. He stops at nothing. Reputations of virtuous ladies, happiness of sweethearts and husbands, the lives of men—he sacrifices them all to achieve his despicable ends. Death overtakes him, however. The long arm of justice reaches out and he pays the penalty for his many crimes by a violent death. He is thrown from a precipice two hundred and sixty feet above sea level.

Louis Reeves Harrison, of the World, says the production of Fra Diavolo means beginning of new era in Moving Pictures
